W84 Manstein's War Errata and Clarifications.

5.8 Reserve Units (clarification)
Reserve ("Res") reinforcement units are deployed per (13.3). Once on the map, each one can be activated by any friendly Army Group Command marker. Place a Reserve Activation marker on the unit to indicate this (and remove the marker at the end of the turn). Note that you do not have to activate all Reserve units with the same Army Group marker.

6.3 Stacking (clarification)
Mobile Logistics Units (MLU) count as corps for stacking in rough terrain.

15.0 Logistics (clarification
Mobile logistics units (MLU) are always supported for their own movement, combat, etc. To provide support to other units they must trace a LOC per (15.2).
Example: an infantry unit traces a LOC to a ML with a movement of "3"; the MLU would have to trace a LOC of up to three hexes to a friendly supply source in order for it to support the infantry unit.

21.1 Allied Deployment (correction)
French 1AG units need to be within four (not two) hexes of 1AG MLU. British MLU is deployed on any English Channel port in France.

Map:
Hex row 15xx (vertical) continues as hex row 03xx, e.g., 1539 to 0340. This does not affect play.

Counters:
French 1AG 41 Fortress 0-3-0 should be a 0-2-0 on its reverse.

The French 1AG 2GC 4-5 should be a 2-5 on its reverse.

German HGC 1A, 1B, 7 Armies 5-4 should be 3-4s on the reverse.
